

PENNSYLVANIA

In Pennsylvania, the Great American Rail-Trail® is hosted by trails that showcase the state's history and heritage, from its days before the country formally came into being to its heyday as an industrial powerhouse. Beginning at the Maryland–Pennsylvania border on the 150-mile Great Allegheny Passage (gaptrail.org), the route travels to Pittsburgh and through downtown on the Three Rivers Heritage Trail.

In Pennsylvania, the trail is expected to generate annually:

 in new tax revenue

$24.3M
